BENNET ELEMENTARY

NEWSLETTER

Together, we prepare our students to successfully meet the challenges of the future.

What a great week we have had with celebrating Red Ribbon Week, and making positive choices at Bennet Elementary. The students enjoyed all the fun dress up days to promote healthy and positive choices.

As the cold weather begins to set in for the fall and winter months, please stay updated on weather forecasts. Please make sure your child dresses for the outdoors. All classrooms have one/two recesses each day. They will be outside if it is not raining, snowing, or severe wind chill. Scarves, hats, and mittens along with a coat are important for your child to wear. It's also very helpful when these items are marked with your child's name.

Have a wonderful weekend. As always, please contact me if you have any questions, comments or concerns at walter.lin@districtor1.net.

Seniors!! Top 3 things to do now!

- 1. Apply to your top college choices. Click here to find a college application checklist and other helpful resources.
- 2. Create a Federal Student Aid account at studentaid.gov (both you and a parent will need an account). This is the site you will use to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

3. Complete the FAFSA at studentaid.gov ASAP! The FAFSA is your application for federal, state, and college-based financial aid.

Get FREE help from EducationQuest

- Attend an EducationQuest Virtual Financial Aid Program to learn about financial aid and the FAFSA. During the presentation, you can register to win a $500 scholarship!
- Find free FAFSA Tools at EducationQuest.org to help you prepare for and complete the FAFSA.
- Call the location nearest you to set up an appointment for free help: Omaha – 888.357.6300, Lincoln – 800.303.3745

How Do I Hunt for Scholarships? By Mr. Michael Chaffee

1) The greatest source for college scholarships is from the college you plan to go attend. They have a vested interest in getting you on their campus, so they are willing to pay for it by offering scholarships. Go to the college/university of your choice. Once you get on their website, look under the financial aid tab or go to the search bar and type in "scholarships." This should get you to where you need to go. The school's admissions counselors will usually be of great assistance.

2) Use EducationQuest! They are a GREAT resource for all students! www.educationquest.org provides all kinds of college information, help with FAFSA, and scholarship searches by simply going to their site. They have locations in Kearney, Lincoln, and Omaha, always being of tremendous help to all school counselors, students, and families. I call them often when I am stuck with college questions. They are amazing! We are fortunate as a state to have such a great resource that other states simply don't have. And they do it for free! DO NOT PAY OTHER COMPANIES FOR COLLEGE PREPARATION! Establish your account (you should have already done this if you are a senior. Juniors should do it soon.) and complete search info on ScholarshipQuest and you will get a "hit" on some of the scholarships that are coming up for Nebraska high school seniors.

3) Local scholarships come to our attention all of the time and I distribute that information through Palmyra High School email, copying both students and parents. If you are a senior, I should have already sent you a link to our most active local scholarships.

4) Last, but certainly not least, scholarships are offered through our District OR 1 Foundation for Knowledge. The deadline is in early April. I have sent all seniors a copy of the application the Foundation uses. Please note that it is a pdf file and can be filled in using a computer: please do that. Do not submit a handwritten application or essay. Not ever!

Finally, you will want to take your time and do an excellent job completing applications. The language you use, your grammar skills, and the overall completeness will be representative of you and your education. See a friendly teacher to help you, or ask for Mr. Chaffee to review your application. Make us proud!

Your life is like it is because of what you choose to focus on and believe.

When we choose good thoughts, we feel good, and when we feel good, good things happen.

Five-Second Post, Lifetime of Regret

Instant access has taken the simple act of growing up and transformed it into a field of land mines for today's teen. Even the smallest misstep, in the unforgiving environment that is social media, can have harsh and long-term consequences.

"Acting impulsively is part of growing up. Teens will make mistakes and learn from them. It's the natural progression to adulthood," said Bridget Mostek, LIMHP, licensed mental health practitioner at CHI Health. "What we'd like to prevent is for those mistakes to be forever on public display, diminishing their reputation before it's fully developed."

Mostek encourages teens to think before posting and then think again. "Getting 'likes' is enticing, some even argue addictive, but don't fall victim to regret. If you wouldn't say it or show it in person, to a large group, then absolutely do not post it." Before your next post, take some timeless advice from Buddha: "If you propose to speak, always ask yourself: Is it true? Is it necessary? Is it kind?"

Screen Time: Good vs. Bad

With less social interaction during the pandemic, screen time has increased in many households. The most important thing you can do as a parent is set limits and monitor screen time.

The bad:

- There are a lot of negative articles and conspiracy theories on the Internet, which can incite fear and anxiety among kids.
 Teachthem what to look for in articles, how to think critically and ask informationseeking questions.
- If social media isn't monitored, it could have negative effects like cyberbullying.
- Too much time spent on devices can cause unhealthy sleep and diet habits. Make sure a routine is in place and do what's best for your family; give time frames for screen time.

The good:

- Social media and electronic devices allow us to connect, which helps us initiate conversation and form or maintain relationships outside of the in-person realm.
- Technology can also be used to enhance learning through games, activities and reading.
- Accurate information is out there.
 Equip your kids with the tools to know what articles are factual and helpful.

Rude, Mean or Worse? Always Take the Kind Road

Our differences make us stronger, our world more vibrant. But it's also natural to gravitate toward those who share our same interests.

"I encourage teens to give themselves room to grow into their beliefs. Expand your view, challenge ideas, meet new people. Of course there will be things and people you prefer more than others," said Bridget Mostek, LIMHP, CHI Health psychotherapist.

"In every interaction, even when there's conflict, we can all choose to be tactful, polite and even respectful," she said. "Choosing kindness doesn't mean you're obligated to like a person. It's less about them and more about the type of person you choose to be."

Challenged by someone with differing views? Before you respond, ask herself, "How would I feel if these were the last words spoken to someone I love?" Mostek said. "We never know the inner battles other people face; represent yourself well and strive for kindness."

Don't be Fooled, Your Life is Just as Great

Approximately 90 percent of teens worldwide use social media. Always on, always available, connecting, supporting, inspiring, and yes, comparing. Researchers find that the more time teens spend on social media, the more depressed they become as they compare their lives to others.

- Don't let social media breed self-hate and feed insecurities. Realize that social media is the highlight reel. We only post the top 1 percent of our day, not the average 99 percent. Everyone has bad hair days.
- Remember there's plenty of happiness, beauty and success to go around. Just because someone is having a great life doesn't mean yours isn't just as great. The world isn't going to run out of awesome.
- Be proactive instead of reactive. When you start negatively comparing yourself to others, you're only reacting to the situation. Instead of feeling down, do something! Set a goal and achieve it.
- Recognize that likes do not equal love. Research shows that getting "likes" triggers the same pleasure as taking drugs. Just as you'd say "no" to drugs, do not hand over your self-worth to anyone with a smartphone.
